Mission / Bio

My name is Luibov S Samoylenko, and I am a senior citizen living in Cleveland, TN. I am seeking funding of $25,000 for a critical hip replacement surgery and the necessary rehabilitation that will help restore my mobility and independence. Living on a fixed income without medical insurance has made it incredibly challenging for me to access the healthcare I need. I have faced numerous barriers, including limited mobility and the inability to drive, which have further restricted my access to essential medical and daily services.

Through my journey, I have developed strong connections within my community, relying on these relationships for support. Despite my hardships, I remain resolute in my desire to regain my independence and live a fulfilling life. By securing the funding for my surgery and rehabilitation, I believe I will not only improve my quality of life but also demonstrate resilience, potentially inspiring other senior citizens in rural Tennessee who are facing similar struggles. I am committed to utilizing this support to enhance my own mobility and continue contributing positively to my community.

Primary Goals

As I navigate my golden years, I find myself deeply motivated to enhance my understanding of healthcare access and community support systems. My experiences have opened my eyes to the challenges many seniors face, especially those without adequate insurance or resources. My academic goal is to study public health or social work, focusing on issues related to aging and healthcare disparities. I believe that gaining a deeper knowledge in these fields will empower me to advocate for myself and others, ensuring that we all have access to the medical care we need.

Through education, I hope to develop practical solutions that can help improve the quality of life for senior citizens in rural Tennessee. By understanding the intricacies of healthcare policies and community resources, I aim to be a strong voice for my peers who may be struggling silently. I aspire to share my journey and newfound knowledge with others, inspiring them to seek assistance and advocate for their own rights. Ultimately, my goal is to create a supportive environment where seniors like me can regain their independence and continue to contribute positively to our communities.

Target Population / Background

I am Luibov S. Samoylenko, a senior citizen in Cleveland, TN, navigating the challenges of aging without adequate medical insurance. My journey has been marked by limited mobility and a deepening sense of isolation. Despite these hardships, I have forged meaningful connections within my community, relying on friends and neighbors for support as I face the daunting prospect of a critical hip replacement surgery. I am determined to regain my independence, and obtaining the necessary funding for both my surgery and rehabilitation would significantly improve my quality of life.

Living on a fixed income has shaped my perspective on healthcare disparities, particularly for seniors like myself. I have experienced firsthand the barriers that many individuals encounter when seeking medical care. This has fueled my passion for advocating for myself and others, motivating me to explore public health or social work as a means to understand and address the structural issues affecting our community. I aspire to use my experiences to create a supportive environment where seniors can thrive and access the healthcare they need, helping others leverage their voices just as I am learning to do.

Geographic Focus

I currently reside in Cleveland, Tennessee, a small city nestled in the beautiful foothills of the Appalachian Mountains. My home offers a sense of community that I cherish deeply, yet I recognize the limited access to healthcare resources for seniors like me. Living on a fixed income adds to my challenges, making it essential for me to seek assistance for my medical needs, especially for the hip replacement surgery I require. The proximity of local services in my neighborhood provides some support, but I often find myself struggling with mobility, which restricts my ability to visit these facilities.

In my pursuit of education, I plan to attend a local institution that focuses on public health and social work. This decision stems from my desire to understand the healthcare system better and address the disparities faced by seniors in rural Tennessee. By immersing myself in this field, I aim to gain the knowledge needed to advocate for myself and others in similar situations. The geographic factors of my community, combined with my experiences, inspire me to create positive change and foster better healthcare access for my peers. I am committed to transforming my challenges into opportunities for growth and advocacy.

Funding Needs

$25,000

Timeline

I urgently need the funding of $25,000 for my critical hip replacement surgery rehab as soon as possible. My current condition has left me struggling with limited mobility, making even the simplest tasks incredibly challenging. The pain and discomfort I experience daily significantly diminish my quality of life and keep me from fully engaging with my community. Without this surgery, my independence and ability to participate in activities that bring me joy are at risk.

The time-sensitive nature of my situation is compounded by my lack of medical insurance and the financial barriers that come with living on a fixed income. I know that delaying this surgery could result in further complications, potentially leading to a longer recovery process and greater impact on my overall health. I am committed to regaining my mobility and independence, but without immediate financial support, my hopes of accessing the necessary surgery and rehabilitation are rapidly slipping away. I hope to receive the funding soon, allowing me to take this essential step toward a healthier, more fulfilling life.

Past Experience / Track Record

Throughout my life, I have actively engaged with my community, building strong relationships that have not only supported me but have also allowed me to contribute positively to those around me. I have spent countless hours volunteering at local organizations, where I provided assistance to fellow seniors, helping them navigate the various challenges of aging. This involvement has not only enriched my life but has also deepened my understanding of the issues we face together.

Academically, I have always been committed to learning, and I aspire to pursue education in public health or social work to better advocate for seniors in rural Tennessee. My experiences have inspired me to focus on healthcare access and disparities that affect us. I believe that by sharing my journey and leveraging my insights, I can empower others like myself to seek the support they need. I aim to create a ripple effect in my community, fostering an environment of resilience and hope for seniors facing similar challenges.

Unique Qualities

My name is Luibov S Samoylenko, and as a senior citizen in Cleveland, TN, I have faced many challenges, particularly with my health and mobility. Living on a fixed income without medical insurance has severely limited my access to the healthcare I need. The critical hip replacement surgery I require is not just a medical necessity; it is vital for restoring my independence. The barriers I encounter daily are daunting, but they have also strengthened my resolve to reclaim my mobility and enhance my quality of life.

Throughout my journey, I've leaned on my community for support, forming strong connections that have provided me with solace and encouragement. I passionately believe in the need for improving healthcare access for seniors like me. This experience has ignited a desire in me to pursue education in public health or social work, focusing on the challenges we face. I want to be an advocate, not just for myself, but for other seniors navigating similar struggles. My aspiration is to harness my experiences to create a supportive environment that allows all seniors to live fulfilled and independent lives.

Collaboration Partners

Throughout my journey, I have built a strong support system that has been instrumental in helping me navigate the challenges I face. My friends and neighbors in Cleveland, TN, form the backbone of my community support. They frequently check in on me, assist with errands, and provide companionship, which has alleviated some of the loneliness that often accompanies my struggles. My connections with these individuals remind me that I am not alone in this fight for my independence.

I also have a few trusted mentors who have inspired me to pursue my educational goals. They have instilled in me the importance of understanding healthcare access and advocating for those like myself. Their guidance has fueled my desire to study public health or social work, and their encouragement instills confidence in my ability to create meaningful change. My family, though small, is always supportive, helping me feel valued and motivated to achieve my goals. Together, these relationships are pivotal in my quest for mobility and independence, and they inspire me to advocate not only for myself but for other seniors in similar situations.

Barriers & Challenges

As a senior citizen living on a fixed income in Cleveland, TN, I face significant financial hardship that creates barriers to accessing the healthcare I desperately need. Without medical insurance, I am unable to afford the $25,000 required for my critical hip replacement surgery and subsequent rehabilitation. This lack of financial resources has left me feeling vulnerable, as my limited mobility restricts not only my physical movement but also my ability to drive and seek out essential services. Each day, the challenges of navigating daily life become increasingly daunting, impacting my independence and overall quality of life.

Despite these obstacles, I remain determined to overcome them by actively seeking support within my community. I have built strong relationships that offer me encouragement and motivation. My commitment to regain my mobility drives me to explore educational opportunities in public health or social work, where I can learn about healthcare access and advocate for others facing similar struggles. I believe that by enhancing my understanding of these issues, I can better support myself and my peers, ultimately creating a more compassionate and resourceful environment for seniors like me.

Special Circumstances

I face significant challenges in my daily life due to my limited mobility, worsened by my recent need for a hip replacement surgery. As a senior citizen living alone in a rural area of Cleveland, TN, I find myself navigating a landscape of deep financial constraints, relying on a fixed income without any medical insurance. This situation makes it nearly impossible for me to access the healthcare I need, and without the funding for surgery and rehabilitation, my prospects for regaining my independence look bleak.

Additionally, my inability to drive and the limited access to transportation hinder my ability to attend medical appointments or engage with my community. I often feel isolated, relying on friends and neighbors for support, yet I am determined to change my circumstances. The funding I seek will not only aid in my physical recovery but will also empower me to advocate for myself and others in similar situations, ensuring that we secure the necessary care to live fulfilling lives in our later years.
